The Story of CAVE STORY+

You wake up in a dark cave with no memory. Who are you, where did you come from and why have you been left alone in such a place? It's a struggle to recall the answers to these questions.

You begin to explore the cave and look for possible escape routes. Before long, you discover Mimiga Village, home of a curious race of rabbit-like creatures called Mimiga who roam free.

As you talk to various denizens of the village, you eventually learn that the once-carefree Mimiga are in great danger. Their town, their lives and even the survival of their species are all at risk because of a terrible external threat: an unseen human oppressor who is said to be using the Mimiga for nefarious purposes against their will.

There's only one person who can help the Mimiga: a quiet, amnesiac boy who can't even remember his own name. Take control and learn the origins of this world's power, stop the delusional villain and save the Mimiga!

Important Points to Remember to Advance the Game

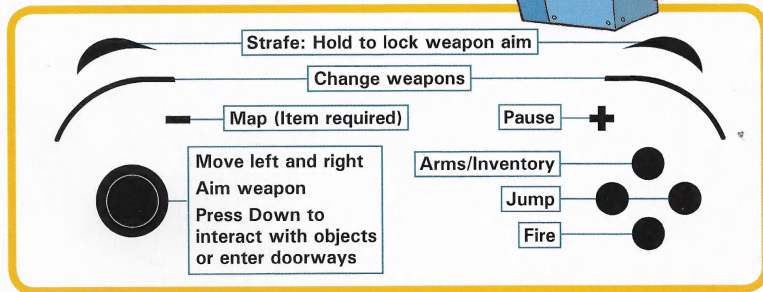

Battle the scourge of your Mimiga friends!

Our hero's mission is to put an end to the Mimiga oppression, and to learn the truth about his own past. On the way, he continues to search endlessly, and to help the Mimiga that he meets.

How to Use the Controller

The Controller has several parts. See the legend below for specific button functions. You can swap the functions of the Jump and Fire buttons by turning Flipped Input "On" at the Game Options menu.

You may use the directional buttons instead of the left thumbstick if you wish.

Reading the Screen Displays

Vital information is located at the top-left portion of the game screen. These indicators will show you the currently equipped weapon, the amount of ammunition you have in reserve, your current health and more. Keep track of all this information regularly if you don't want to restart often.

When you capture a Weapon Crystal...

When enemies are destroyed, Weapon Crystals are sometimes given off. If these Crystals are captured, your current weapon's level will be increased. Weapon Crystals can also be found in capsules.

The Arms/Inventory menu has vital information on weapons and items that have been acquired through the course of your adventure. Weapons can be manually selected via this menu as well as in-game (see Page 12).

Every weapon and item has a description. Passive items can't be equipped; instead, they are used automatically when required. Other items have to be equipped and unequipped.

■ Go through doors and activate devices!

Doors and teleportation devices are located throughout the caves. Press Down while standing in front of these and other devices to enter or activate. You can also press Down to talk to some characters!

The Key to Winning: Hunt Out Weapons and Items

As you progress on your adventure, at least 10 different weapons can be found, or acquired by other means such as trading. You can also find helpful items in random areas, inside chests, hidden in the landscape or in the possession of characters who may or may not want to give them up.

Things to remember

- Crystals increase an equipped weapon's power.
- Weapons lose power when damage is sustained.
- Some weapons can't be powered up by Crystals.
- A weapon's power will max out at Level 3.
- Some items are necessary to advance; others are optional.

The secret to finding a cool, new weapon or item might be as simple as helping someone out! Other times, more creative thinking may be required...

Polar Star

You'll "borrow" your first weapon, the Polar Star, from the napping Gunsmith. (Don't worry, he won't be too upset!) Its initial power is somewhat weak, but it can be powered up much faster than some of the other more effective weapons. At full power (Level 3), it can deliver a decent amount of damage very quickly.

Fireball

A gift from a friendly Mimiga, the Fireball will be presented early into your quest. Unlike the Polar Star, the Fireball is bound by the effects of gravity. It bounces in a fairly predictable manner and is noticeably stronger than the Polar Star. It is very useful on hilly terrain.

Bubbline

Finding the Bubbline might require the clever use of gelatinous materials in some hot places. The Bubbline's three levels are very distinct in their firing patterns and damage capabilities. It changes at Level 2, offering rapid fire, and at Level 3 the Bubbline can work as a shield of sorts.

Machine Gun

After acquiring the Machine Gun, you won't need much backup while battling the opposition. A rapid-fire weapon as the name suggests, the highly potent Machine Gun dispatches enemies with brutal force. Try firing downward while airborne with a Level 3 Machine Gun.

Booster

Strap on this jet pack and you'll be able to extend the distance and/or height of a jump by pressing the Jump button in mid-air. There are two different versions of the Booster... but if you find one, you'll never find the other.

Sue's Letter

This mysterious missive will suddenly appear in your inventory at a crucial point in the game's unfolding story. Who is Sue, and why did she write you a letter? What vital information could possibly be carried inside this simple, ordinary envelope?

Turbocharge

The Turbocharge is an attachment that enhances the performance of the Machine Gun. In fact, you won't be able to get the Turbocharge unless you're carrying that weapon!

Tow Rope

A sturdy bungee cable that's very useful for towing robots. Under certain special circumstances, you might be able to find one in an area where robots have been towed. You never know when it might come in handy....

A few items (such as Life Capsules) will increase your overall health, but won't be maintained in the Sub-Screen. Others (such as the Map System) will be inventoried at the Sub-Screen for later use.

Friends and Enemies You'll Encounter on Your Journey

Some of the characters you'll meet are instantly friendly. But there are others—two in particular—who have no intention of letting you stop the events that have already been put in motion. Let's meet some of the more notable characters... starting with you, the star of the game!

Mister Traveler

The main protagonist doesn't remember his name or where he came from. In his journey he'll learn about his past and his original purpose. If he does everything right, he may be able to save his Mimiga friends!

 King

Call him number one in Mimiga Village, a responsibility passed on to him by the previous leader, Arthur. King's duty is to the Mimiga who live in the village. He's not the friendliest Mimiga you'll meet, but he does have good intentions.

 Toroko

The diminutive Toroko makes friends easily; she warmly welcomes you to the village while King and Jack do nothing but question your motives.

 Jack

He's happy to be number-two to King's number-one; that's Jack. Loyal to the end, he has King covered under any circumstance.

Misery

Using her nearly limitless magic, Misery is greatly responsible for the ongoing turmoil. For whatever reason it may be, she is in search of someone named Sue.

Balrog

Meet Misery's company, Balrog. With the nose of a Harrier, Balrog can find his prey anywhere. He's quite persistent and won't give up very easily, as you'll soon discover.

Protecting your new friends won't be easy and you can't do it alone, so be sure to speak with everyone you meet. They might offer advice or cryptic hints, or ask for a favor. You might even get something special in return for your kindness!

STOP!

If you turn this page, you may place yourself at risk for SPOILERS and/or insider knowledge that some players prefer to discover without help.

DO NOT VIEW THE REST OF THIS INSTRUCTION MANUAL if you want to enjoy the Cave Story+ experience as it was originally intended.

If you continue to read further, Nicalis Inc. will not be responsible for any decreased enjoyment that may result from your reluctance to figure out stuff on your own.
